CALL FOR PAPERS

AN:klang

The Magazine of Young Musicology, Issue 5 (2027)

Have you recently explored an exciting topic in your bachelor's-, master's, or seminar paper and want to share your insights with a broader audience? Have you given a presentation that you would like to develop into a publication? Have you attended a concert or festival that left a lasting impression and sparked new ideas?

No matter what music-related topics or experiences continue to occupy your thoughts – we are eager to read your scholarly, artistic, philosophical, or experimental engagement with music!

AN:klang, the magazine of the Young Musicology initiative of the Austrian Society for Musicology offers a platform for publication and open exchange of ideas. The magazine welcomes contributions from all subfields of musicology. Submissions are open to students and early-career researchers at all levels – from bachelor's to ongoing or recently completed doctoral studies. We also warmly welcome music-related contributions from students of other disciplines.

We look forward to receiving:

- Articles & Essays (24.000–30.000 characters incl. spaces)
- Short Texts & Reports (9.000–15.000 characters incl. spaces)
- Interviews & (Audio)-Reflections (6.000–15.000 characters incl. spaces)
- ... or your own formats and proposals

Please submit:

- Your Text (as a Microsoft Word document, formatted according to our citation guidelines)
- An Abstract (max. 300 words; required for articles & essays)
- A short biography including information about your current or completed studies (max. 150 words)

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: 28 February 2027
Please send your submissions to: jumuwi@oegmw.at.

Selected authors will be notified by March 2027.
The issue is scheduled for publication on 1 November 2027.

If you have any questions regarding your potential submission, feel free to contact the editorial team at the above email address.

Further information on AN:klang, previous issues, our citation guidelines, and the Young Musicology initiative is available on our website:
https://oegmw.at/junge-musikwissenschaft/anklang